PHILA. JUBILANT OVER GETTING THE G. O. P. CONVENTION

Begin Preparations at Once for Entertainment of Thousands of Delegates

MAY SPEND $12,000,000

Reservations for Hotel Rooms and Space for News Wire Service Now Being Made

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17—(INS)—Jubilant over choice of this city for the 1940 Republican National Convention, Philadelphians today began preparations for playing host to thousands of delegates, their friends and other visitors who are expected to drop a cool $12,000,000 in local cash registers beginning next June 24.

Reservations for hotel rooms and space for newspaper wire services immediately began pouring into Philadelphia hotels upon acceptance of Philadelphia's convention bid by the Republican National Committee. Plans for a parade of Philadelphia's unique mummies' parade and a possible Schuylkill river pageant were announced for entertainment of visitors and other plans were in the making. Business men rubbed their hands in glee.

Estimates that the party will bring $12,000,000 to the city were made by the Chamber of Commerce, which listed 33 per cent of the total going for hotel rooms and meals, 23 per cent to department stores and the balance to wholesalers and manufacturers of supplies, restaurants, transportation and miscellaneous.

In 1936, 1,000,000 visitors to the Democratic National Convention left an estimated $10,000,000 in Philadelphia, but Republicans will spend more because of the greater number of wealthy delegates and others attracted by the GOP show, business men said.

The 1940 meeting will be the fourth Republican National Convention to be entertained by Philadelphia. The first was in 1856 when John C. Fremont was nominated only to lose to James Buchanan, Democrat, and only Pennsylvania elected to the presidency. President Ulysses S. Grant was nominated in Philadelphia in 1872 and President William McKinley in 1900.

Legionnaires from Philadelphia, Lancaster, Allentown, Perkasie, Pa.; Mt. Holly and Camden, N. J., will be present, as well as from other districts.

WILMER S. BLACK DIES AT HOME IN LANGHORNE

In Youth He Played Baseball in Major Leagues; Was 74 Years of Age

FUNERAL ON TUESDAY

LANGHORNE, Feb. 17—Wilmer S. Black, III, for a lengthy period, died at his residence, 237 West Maple avenue, early this morning at the age of 74 years.

Prominent in athletic contests and sports activities during his youth, Mr. Black was connected for some time with the major baseball leagues, serving as catcher for the Philadelphia Athletics.

He was the husband of Anna Candy Black, and son of the late John P. and Rachel Pyle Black. His father, John P. Black, was a carriage maker of note a half century ago. The son aided his father for many years in the building of carriages and farm vehicles, their shop at that time being one of the three outstanding engaged in such business in lower Bucks county. Later he dealt in automobiles, and for some years was retired.

Mr. Black leaves his wife; two daughters, Mrs. C. Donald Oakley, Bethlehem; and Mrs. J. Stanley Addis, Brookville, L. I.; a sister, Mrs. Emma B. Myers, Langhorne R. D.; a brother, Clarence Black, Bristol R. D.; and five grandchildren: Marjorie Ann and David Stanley Addis; Ruth, William and Robert Oakley.

The Rev. Walter F. Humphrey, pastor of Langhorne Methodist Church, will be the officiating clergyman at the service to be held in the R. L. Horner funeral home, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Burial will be in the Methodist graveyard, here, and friends may call Monday evening.

Nothing Is Useless!

(By "The Stroller") We can't help but marvel at the ingenuity of some people, when we see so many items made in Bristol public schools out of what we would probably think of as useless articles. In some instances the thought is original with some of the teachers, while in other instances the ideas have been passed along from other districts. Those attractive foot-stools found in the Washington street school room over which H. S. Storms presides, have their legs and spindles fashioned from discarded Christmas trees of the 1939 season; while dainty greeting cards in Miss Genevieve Meixell's room are the result of cutting cancelled postage stamps into shapes of trees; flower petals, leaves and stems. Little houses, fireplaces, etc. The completed card shows an attractive scene in a variety of colors, and the personal greeting written on each, adds a friendly touch.

Bank Takes Church; Church Takes Bank

PALMYRA, Feb. 17—Misfortune which struck at two community institutions in Palmyra during the late depression may yet turn out to be a blessing in disguise and result in providing a community house for the youth of the borough.

About 12 years ago the Lutheran Church organized a congregation and built a fine new church. During the depression it was impossible for the group to meet its obligations and a bank foreclosed the mortgage on the building and took possession of the church building.

Also as a result of the depression the Palmyra National Bank was forced into liquidation and its handsome building was left without a tenant.

The Lutheran Church, with the aid of its national organization, was able to buy the structure at a low price and now again has a fine church home.

In the meantime, the unoccupied church building, which has a well-equipped gymnasium and is otherwise well suited for use as a community house, is being offered for sale by the bank.

Civic leaders in Palmyra are making plans to raise by popular subscription the necessary money to purchase the building for recreational purposes and devote it to the welfare of the youth of the community.

LARGEST NAVAL BATTLE OF WAR NOW IN PROGRESS

Big German Warship is Reported Sunk or Grounded Off Norway

HEAVY GUN-FIRE

British Destroyers Rescue Nearly 400 Seamen From "Prison Ship"

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 17—(INS)—With a big German warship reported sunk or grounded, one of the largest naval battles of the European War today was understood to be in process off the west coast of Norway.

Information reaching here said a Reich craft of from 10,000 to 15,000 tons was sent to the bottom or forced ashore on the rocky Norwegian coast.

(Seven German ships might fit the description: the pocket battleships Admiral Scheer and Luetzow—formerly the Deutschland—and the new heavy cruisers Bluecher and Admiral Hipper, each of 10,000 tons, and the Hannover, Schlesien, and Schleswig-Holstein, each 13,040 tons. The latter three are old pre-war vessels, refitted in the last few years.)

Today's battle apparently was a continuation of the fight reported yesterday, when residents on the west coast of Norway in the Jeddereen section reported the sound of heavy gunfire.

It was in the Jeddereen area that the warship was said to have been sunk or beached today.

LONDON, Feb. 17—(INS)—British destroyers rescued between 300 and 400 merchant seamen from the German "prison ship" Altmarm off the western coast of Norway, it was announced today.

Just Angry Repetition

Washington, Feb. 16.

THERE is a curious technique about the New Deal which has been characteristic of it from the start. It is practiced by the New Dealers all the way from the President down to the most obscure departmental press agent.

BRIEFLY, it is this—when caught in an erroneous statement, do not admit the error, ignore the irreconcilable facts, repeat the statement and abuse those who challenge it. That is the formula and it is amazing how well Administration advantages for reaching the public ear have enabled it to work. No better illustration of its

FAMOUS PAINTINGS OF WORLD BEING STUDIED

Edgely School's Seventh and Eighth Grades Find Subject Very Interesting

DIRECTED BY PRINCIPAL

EDGELEY, Feb. 17—The study of famous paintings of the world can be made interesting, and it is proving so to grades seven and eight at Edgely schools, under direction of principal Walter Miller. Not only are the paintings studied, but the painters to a certain degree likewise. Copies of the famous paintings in a beautifully colored reference book are referred to; and the school boasts of several, which hang in various school rooms.

Those to be found in Edgely school include: "The Angelus," "The Horse Fair," "Pilgrims Going to Church," and "Sir Gallahad."

This is the first school term that girls and boys of seventh grade have been separated at Edgely. Various methods of dividing the class have been followed in years past, but for 1939-40 term, the girls and boys were almost equal in number, so that method was tried. The girls total 40, and the boys 37. Work in grades seven and eight is departmentalized.

Attending sessions in the two buildings here are 250 pupils, with seven teachers. Many of the number commute from their homes by bus—fine big vehicles accommodating 50 and 60 passengers, and school officials in the township state they are about the finest school buses in the state.

A study of Japan is occupying the attention of seventh grade pupils under direction of Miss Ethel Bond, just now. This is conducted during the geography period, and with such study the students are learning what part Japan is playing in world affairs now, and possibility of map changes due to the war in the Orient. A picture of Japan, in colors, has just been completed. Other subjects taught by Miss Bond are history and spelling to seventh grade.

Father and Children Dead

Philadelphia, Feb. 17—Police early today broke down the door of a south-west Philadelphia home and found the bodies of Joseph Kowalski, 35-year-old WPA worker, and the two children he abducted from his estranged wife a week ago.

Kowalski, his 18-months-old daughter Lorraine, and son Thomas, 4, lay on the kitchen floor with gas pouring from four open range burners. Both children were in their nightclothes, and the father was clad only in trousers, underwear and socks.

Police said a message found pencilled on the kitchen wall read: "Helen: Every time you look into a dark corner, I will haunt you with the two children."

His 21-year-old wife, who left Kowalski last Saturday, has been living at her mother's home.

Release Merchant Seamen

London, Feb. 17—Pounding down on the German prison boat Altmarm—which some captives described as a "hell-hole"—two British destroyers invaded a Norwegian fjord during the night and liberated between 300 and 400 British merchant seamen.

As a result of the episode, Britain, Norway and Germany today were involved in the hottest international controversy since the war began.

As protests flew back and forth, the drama of the episode pushed into the background the extreme gravity of Finland's place and her appeals for aid.

Summa, the focal point of the 18-day drive of the Russians against the Mannerheim line, has fallen to picked battalions of Russian shock troops. It was reported, and at other points on the Karelian Isthmus the Soviet forces were said to be pushing the Finns farther back.

Britain, with characteristic scorn of the international issues involved, relentlessly hunted down the Altmarm and sent the destroyers straight into the bay to rescue the prisoners.

BRISTOL HIGH SCORES WIN OVER FIVE FROM PA. SCHOOL FOR DEAF

Cardinal and Gray Take Game From Visitors in Easy Fashion

FINAL COUNT IS 30 TO 18

Tilt Was Closer Than The Score Would Indicate

Stepping out of league competition, Bristol High's quintet, recently crowned champions of the Lower Bucks court circuit, scored a rather easy victory over the Pennsylvania School for the Deaf passers on the home floor last night, 30-18. The triumph marked the 14th in 16 tilts played by the Cards this season.

The tilt, however, was closer than the score would indicate. For three periods the Deaf school boys trailed the home club but by only a few points until the final session when coach Tom Campion's proteges stepped out to win going away. Until that last chapter, however, they held only a four point margin of 19-15 and later by only 20-17 after Gerald Cush sank a one hand push up shot following Joe Pica's foul goal, to start action in the final quarter.

ROLLER HOCKEY TEAMS SCHEDULE TWO GAMES

Fast skating wheelers of the Eastern Roller Hockey Association will hook up in a pair of games this weekend which promise plenty of action.

Washington, D. C., travels up to Newburgh, N. Y., to tangle with the Newburgh Arrows, eastern division leaders, and the Mt. Gretna Tigers, pace setters in the western division, will entertain the Reading Brewers on the Mt. Gretna, Pa., rink. Both tilts are scheduled for Sunday afternoon, Feb. 18.

Mt. Gretna, still undefeated in league competition, faces a real test in Reading, for the Brewers showed plenty of strength in winning over the strong Croydon Ramblers two weeks ago, 5 to 0.

The Washington-Newburgh game is regarded as even more important as there is a possibility the division leadership may change hands.

The Chester Leopards replace Audubon, N. J., in the eastern division, and assume their standings. The Leopards' original entrants in the circuit when it first was organized, may not win any championship this season, but they feel they will be able to make it tough for the leaders once they hit their stride and will be ready to make a real bid for loop honors next season.

Smarting under their 31-29 setback handed them by the Bensalem Owlets in their last start, coach Peg Royer's Bristol High sextet came back strong to easily defeat the Pennsylvania School for the Deaf six on the local boards last night, 23-11.

Although trailing by only two points at the close of the initial period, 6-4, the Deaf team never was in the ball game after that as the home club slowly but steadily pulled out to win going away. It was in the third period that the Red and Grey lassies put the game on ice by outscoring their opponents, 9-3, to give them a 20-9 edge to start the final quarter.

To Honor Washington And Lincoln Tomorrow

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 17—More than a thousand persons are expected to attend the Washington-Lincoln memorial religious mass meeting in the Bucks County Court House here tomorrow. It will be undenominational and non-sectarian in nature. The affair will get under way at 3 p. m., sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Doylestown in co-operation with the Rotary Club, American Legion, Soroptimist Club, Doayapo Club, pastors and congregations of the town.

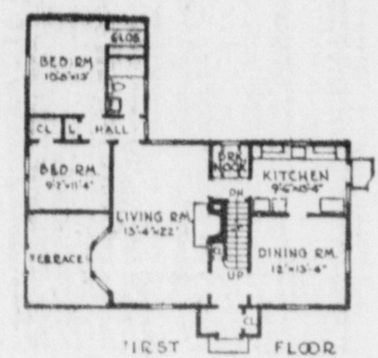

The object of the meeting will be outlined by President Judge Hiram H. Keller, of the Bucks county courts. Clergymen who will assist include: Rev. Charles F. Freeman, Salem Reformed Church; Rev. Barnard Repass, St. Paul's Lutheran Church; Rev. Alexander B. Davidson, Methodist Church; Rev. Claud L. Peal, Second Baptist Church; Rev. John F. Fogarty, Church of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel; Rev. Dr. Joseph I. Krauskopf, well-known Philadelphia rabbi; Rev. Frank Damrosch, Jr., St. Paul's Episcopal Church; Rev. Meyer M. Hostetter, Doylestown Presbyterian Church.

HERE is a two-bedroom home, unusual in that it is designed in an "L" shape rather than the more or less conventional rectangle.

The bay window in the living room, overlooking the terrace, gives an illusion of space and permits a three-way view of the outdoors. Having both bedrooms at the rear and adjacent to each other makes for convenience.

The provision of a breakfast nook, in addition to a dining room, finds favor with many, especially among families without domestic help. The second floor can provide additional living space which may be required as the family grows.

AT THE CAPITOL

By International News Service
HARRISBURG, Feb. 17—Governor James, in his attack on the Federal Social Security Board, which he accused of exercising "arbitrary powers, has now been joined by the New York State Advisory Council on unemployment insurance. . . . The New York body, in its annual report to the Legislature, accused the Social Security Board of trying to use "the power of the purse-strings" to interfere with the Administration of the State's jobless insurance law.

The Council repeated some of the objections Governor James made against the Social Security Board recently in an address before the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce. . . . It pointed out that the present New York law, similar to that of Pennsylvania, requiring that all administrative expenses come out of Federal funds gave the Social Security Board the power to hold back State grants on the grounds that the State's administration of the law has been "inadequate or improper."

Governor James revealed at a press conference that he had been informed that the Federal Board had sent its investigators into the State and that they had subsequently made complaints against the state's civil service laws. He made it clear he would uphold the state's right to administer its own laws without interference from the Federal Government.

a ten-bed ward. The first floor will house a lobby for visitors, a room for the meetings of the Board, nurses' room and a room for the several Auxiliaries.

The building was financed through public subscriptions and contributions, a campaign for which was conducted by hospital authorities. Cash contributions to date approximate $28,474.23 and pledges, payable during 1940 amount to $12,594. The cost of construction was approximately $65,000 and furnishings added another $5,900 to the gross expense.

Supporting the drive were ten Auxiliaries, civic organizations and thousands of individual friends of the hospital. A number of organizations assumed the full cost of furnishings for rooms in the new annex and these contributions will be memorialized permanently by bronze plaques which will be unveiled Saturday.

Organizations thus to be honored are Perkase Rotary Club, Tylersport Auxiliary, Sellersville Auxiliary, Silverdale-Blooming Glen Auxiliary, Perkase Auxiliary and Souderton-Telford Auxiliary.

Pastors who will participate in the program are: Rev. J. R. Shepley, Sellersville; Rev. E. J. Bohn, Souderton; Rev. Norman Y. Ritter and Rev. Howard Obold, Perkase, and Rev. G. W. Spotts, Telford.

been solved by the Pennsylvania Motor Police.

Those under arrest include Walter R. Ely, 22, of Hallowell, son of a Horsham Township constable; John C. Davis, 21, Horsham, and William J. Horner, 18, Horsham.

Corporal William Herman, of the Doylestown sub-station of Motor Police and Privates Kohler and Clifford, who have been in charge of the investigations in Bucks county, said today that they have statements from the accused, in the nature of confessions.

At the present time the three youths are in the custody of the Montgomery county authorities. They admitted to a robbery at the Pitcairn Flying Field store and several other Montgomery county places. Bucks county authorities have lodged detainers against them.

Davis was arrested Sunday at his home. Ely was arrested in Ivyland Tuesday, and Horner was arrested in Horsham Township Tuesday. Corporal Herman said that Ely has admitted breaking into the Doylestown Township Consolidated School on the night of January 17th when an electric cabinet radio was stolen. This had been presented to the children of the school a few hours before. Ely implicated William J. Horner in this job. The Motor Police have a statement of confession from Ely, but Horner refused to talk. Horner told police that he would "take his medicine" but refused to talk about the Edison school robbery. Corporal Herman said the radio was pawned in Philadelphia and that it is possible that the machine will be released and returned to the school.

Ely also gave Corporal Herman a statement in which he admitted breaking into the "Roadside Rest" on the night of January 25th, a place owned by Samuel Schonwald. In this robbery a radio was stolen, together with a quantity of cigarettes and other "smokes" and some cash.

It was stolen cigarettes that furnished the first clue for the police to work on in solving the robberies in which the trio is implicated. The scale of the stolen cigarettes by one mem-

Police say that the trio have been implicated in quite a number of Montgomery county jobs and will be questioned further today by Montgomery county police.

The radio stolen from the "Roadside Rest," Edison, was also pawned in Germantown, and this may be recovered.
